

The Daily Courant.

Wednesday, February 25. 1708.

London, February 25.

Yesterday arriv'd the Mails of Tuesday and Friday last from Holland, and also that of Friday from Flanders.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated March 2.

Brest, Feb. 21.

TH E 3 Men of War, which some Days ago sail'd from hence with Naval Stores for Toulon, were in the Night of Olonne overtaken by a violent Storm, and in Danger to be lost; but after having suffer'd great Damage in their Masts and Rigging, they are at last come back to an Anchor under Port St. Martin in the Isle of Rhee, whither Necessaries for their re-fitting are sent to them from Port-Louis. Yesterday 2 of our largest Privateers put to Sea, viz. the Amazone of 38 and the Lis of 42 Guns. In the Ports of the Ocean 35 Men of War of from 40 to 70 Guns are fitting out, that is to say 16 here, 5 at Port-Louis, 4 at St. Malo, 4 at Rochelle, 4 at Diepe, and 2 at Havre de Grace. Men are kept at Work Day and Night to fit out this Naval Force by the End of March; but 'tis not known yet who is to command them, nor where they are to be employ'd, though 'tis believ'd they are for the Coast of Spain.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Feb. 25.

Paris, Feb. 25. M. de Chamillart, Minister and Secretary of State, having voluntarily laid down the Office of Comptroller-general of the Finances, the King has given it to M. des Maretz, Director-general of the Finances, Nephew of the late M. Colbert, Minister and Secretary of State, and Comptroller-general, under whom he acted as principal Intendant of the Finances.

From the Brussels Gazette, dated March 2.

Paris, Feb. 27. The Alteration made among the Officers of the Treasury, has occasion'd some Removals at Versailles: For M. de la Roche-guion, the Duke de Villeroy, the Prince de Espinois, and others who lodg'd in the Apartments which M. Pellerier Minister of State had when he was Comptroller-general of the Finances, have been oblig'd to quit them, to make Room for M. des Maretz and his Offices. Since the Nomination of that Gentleman to the Office of Comptroller-general, there is a Talk of establishing a new Fund of 8 Millions for fitting out a Naval Force, better circulating the Mint-Bills, and creating new Offices; but these are only Rumours. The Duke of Orleans propos'd to reach Bourdeaux to Day, and to be at Bayonne the 29th, where he will visit the Queen Dowager of Spain. 'Tis reported for certain, that besides a Million in Specie which his Royal Highness carries with him, he has taken with him above a Million in Jewels to make Use of on Ocasion; and that those of the Crown of Spain, which were brought into France when the Army from Portugal enter'd Castile, are also put into his Hands. Letters from Madrid of the 14th of this Month, say they had Advice there from Saragossa, that the Duke of Berwick having view'd the Posts on the Frontier of Catalonia, observ'd the Passages, and try'd the Forable Places of the Rivers, was gone to Lerida, to give Order for repairing and strengthening with new Works the Fortifications of that Place; that Recruits for the French Troops arriv'd from time to time, and were distributed to the Regiments for which they were rais'd. They had Advice also at Madrid, that the Italian Regiment of Bonafana of 14 or 1500 Men was arriv'd at Barcelona, where were expected the other Troops embark'd on the Coast of Genoa, who in their Voyage underwent a Storm.

From the Antwerp Courant, dated March 2.

Paris, Feb. 27. They write from Madrid, that a good Number of Troops of the Allies were arriv'd at Barcelona, and that the Catalonians had promis'd all possible Assistance to King Charles, and advanc'd to him great Subsidies, for carrying on the War. M. des Maretz, the new Comptroller-general of the Finances, assist'd the 25th Instant the first Time at the Consultations held in the King's Presence about Ways and Means to raise Money; and his Majesty seems to be well satisfy'd of his Ability. The Duke de Noailles has already sent his Servants before to Perpignan, and designs to follow them Pon this Week; that at the same time the Duke of Orleans begins to act against the Allies from the Side of Lerida, he may put his Body of Troops in Motion on the Frontiers of Catalonia from the Side of Roussillon; but 'tis doubted he will not be able to attack Gironne. Orders are sent by Expresses, to the Troops that are moving from Provence and Dauphine for Spain, to hasten their march with all Expedition.

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated March 1.

Brussels, Feb. 27. From the Enemy's Frontiers 'tis advis'd, that not only at Dunkirk, but in other Ports, a great Number of Men of War, Privateers, and large Merchant-Ships are arming with all Diligence; that 12000 Musquets and 6000 Pistols are brought from Paris to Dunkirk, and that Warlike Stores, and Tools for breaking up Ground, are also brought thither daily in great Quantity. 'Tis rumour'd also on the Enemy's Frontiers, that 7 or 8000 Seamen are expected at Dunkirk from other Places; and that the whole Fleet, which, for executing some great Design they are getting ready to put to Sea, will consist of at least 200 Ships. That Design is very industriously kept secret, though to amuse the Publick they spread several Reports, as that 'tis to meet the Spanish Plate-Fleet, or to assist the Duke of Orleans in his Projects on Catalonia and that 21 Battalions will be order'd forthwith to that Kingdom. The Marshal de Boufflers has signify'd to the Magistrates of Lisle, that as soon as the Weather permits he will set Men to Work on a new Line between Lisle and Tournay, as also on a little Fort or Half-moon without the Gate of Five towards Tournay; and they talk at Lisle that 15000 Men will draw together between these 2 Towns to cover the said Workmen; which Forces are to be detach'd from the Garrisons of Arras, Doway, Cambray, Valenciennes, and other Places; and they are to have with them some Field-Pieces, which are provided at Lisle. The 22d Instant the Regiment of Chartres arriv'd at Lisle, and the Regiment of Isenguien was expected there the 23d or 24th. The Troops of the King's Household are getting ready to pass in Review before his Majesty the 1st of March. P. S. We are inform'd, that all the Troops which are now marching from Bethune, St. Omer, Doway, Cambray, Valenciennes, and many other Places, towards Dunkirk, are all to be imbarc'd there; and 'tis said at Dunkirk that the Expedition is design'd against Scotland or Ireland.

From the Amst. Cour. and Gaz. dated, March 1. & 2.

Hague, Feb. 28. Yesterday arriv'd an Express from the States of Zealand, with Letters to their High Mightinesses: They have Information at Zealand of the Naval Preparations of the French at Dunkirk and other Ports; but for what Expedition they cannot learn; In the mean time the States have order'd 30 Men of War to be fitted out. Yesterday General Fagel set out from hence, for his Government of Sluys in Flanders; and General Spar, who is gone for a few Days to Friseland, will likewise repair speedily to his Command in Flanders: Their High Mightinesses have given all necessary Orders.

Orders for defending Zealand and the Dutch Flanders from any Insult from the Naval Force which the Enemy are fitting out.

Hague, March 2. They write from Berlin, that the King of Sweden advancing to Grodno with about 400 Horse, was surrounded by 3000 Muscovites; whereupon alighting from his Horse
he made a short Prayer, and then mounting agen, charg'd the Muscovites with his Handful of Men, and defeated them. The States of Zealand are under Apprehensions of the Fleet which the French are fitting out at Dunkirk, and are therefore taking in fit Precaution the properest Measures to put that Island into a good Defence. Many are of Opinion here, that the Design of the Enemy is rather to make a Descent in Scotland; and some imagine the Prince of Wales is to embark on the Fleet appointed for that Service, and that the King of France's true Intention in sending for the Duke of Berwick from Spain, is to employ him in that Expedition: Others are of Opinion that these Naval Preparations of the French are but a Feint, to divert the sending a Squadron with Succours from England to Portugal. Be the Design what it will, Endeavours will be us'd to hinder the coming out of the Enemy's Ships from Dunkirk, by a Number of Men of War which will be sent from England and this Country to lie before that Port.
These Preparations of the French, have given Occasion to the States to resolve upon an Augmentation of their Naval Force for this Year's Service;
and they have order'd the Council of State to present a Petition (according to Custom) for 400000 Florins, for fitting out without delay 9 Ships of Augmentation, to serve at Sea 6 Months, the better to secure the Commerce of this Republick.
Dr. Helvetius being order'd (at the Instance of the British Minister) to depart this Country, will set out to Morrow to return to Paris,

From the Amsterdam Courant, dated March 2.

Letters from Genoa of the 12th of February, tell us they had no certain News yet of the Fleet of the Allies that sail'd from Vado for Catalonia; and that they had only heard from Marfeilles that they had been seen off Roses, standing towards Barcelona.
They write from Milan the 14th, that they had re-ceiv'd a Letter from a Captain of the Regiment of Bonafana, advising that he was arriv'd at Barcelona, with 2 Men of War, who had been separated in hard Weather from the rest of the Convoy, which was daily expected.
